

Functional Boundary

This system uses the college email system to verify that the student is a part of a university and then puts them on the universities page in the system. This is done when an account is created due to the fact that in order for your account to actually be linked to a college the user must utilize a college email.